

WATCH PARTIES, DANCES AND CABARET DINNERS GREET ARRIVAL OF NEW YEAR

EL PASO celebrated the arrival of the new year Friday night in a big league way. Cabaret dinners were held in the hotels, dances were given in the clubs and at many private homes.

When the whistles started blowing at midnight, the auto horns downtown took up the welcome to the new year, many pistols were fired into the air and at the hotel dinner parties toasts were drunk to the new year as the lights were dimmed and then turned on again to announce the arrival of 1916.

Hotel Cabarets.

At Hotel Paso del Norte, Hotel Sheldon and at the Progress club, cabaret programs were given during the evening. At the Hotel Paso del Norte and Sheldon entertainers from the local theaters alternated between the two big hotels, where they sang, danced and whistled for the entertainment of the diners. The main dining room of the Hotel Paso del Norte was crowded with diners, there being many dinner parties to watch the old year out and the new one in. The Social club had its dinner in the main lobby. Over the big oak sideboard a temporary stage had been built and on this the entertainers gave their program.

A huge auto horn was placed in the main dining room of the Sheldon and the professional entertainers went from one hotel to the other giving their programs. The chorus girls from the Crawford theater sang and danced through the dining rooms of the hotels, singing to the diners and giving the place a real New Year's air.

Wear Paper Hats.
Paper hats and caps were given to the diners at the hotels and these, worn by the diners, gave another festive touch to the watch parties. Horns and other noise making instruments added a festive touch to the watch parties. The diners at the hotels and there were many spectators watching the fun from the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Paso del Norte and the private dining rooms of the Sheldon.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon was an interested spectator at the Hotel Paso del Norte celebration.
Fires were prevented in both of the big hotels by the prompt action of diners. At the Hotel Paso del Norte the restaurant streamers caught fire from the sparklers and started burning toward the cotton decorations which were draped between the marble columns. One of the diners jumped onto a table and extinguished the blaze before it reached the cotton and another ran out of the fire which had started on the table. At Hotel Sheldon a match was thrown into some paper decorations, but it was put out without any damage.

Moore Open House.
At the Moore club a smoker and entertainment was given preceding the arrival of the new year. The program of the Moore. Miss Mabel Moody played piano solos. Newton Bassett
